

Editorial Comment

The question of employing counsel to assist Attorney General Garnett in the great taxation case now pending has been discussed by Gov. McCreary, who seen danger to the State in not having enough attorneys to handle the matter successfully. The State Board of valuation and assessment raised the big corporations of the state many millions of dollars, upon the idea that they were not bearing their proper burden of taxation. The L. & N. Railroad was raised from $11,000,000 to $45,000,000 and other railroads were correspondingly increased. Eight of the corporations are resisting the raise and their array of counsel is the strongest to be had in the state. The counties, cities and school districts all profit greatly by the increase and the case will be a hard fought one. There should be no lack of legal talent to compete with the great corporation lawyers.

In today's paper will be found a list of the trees planted on the Capitol grounds, but many of the State's most beautiful trees are not included. The beautiful Red Bud, the Hickorynut, the Catalpa, the Cypress and the Wild Cherry, all pretty shade trees, are missing from the list, which includes such shrubs as Sassafras, Elder and Honeysuckle. Some of the counties had better try again. Logan, for instance, should not want her fame to be perpetuated by a Sassafras bush.

Lee McClung, Treasurer of the United States, has resigned and Carmel Thompson is tipped as his successor. Before he can assume his duties, it will be necessary to actually count more than twelve hundred millions of cash in the treasury. This will take three months and by that time another count will be in order for a Democratic treasurer.

Six men, charged with "tarring" 19-year-old Minnie Le Valley at West Clarksfield, O., were placed on trial Tuesday. The girl stated on the stand that several men seized her on the street, took her behind a store and after partly stripping her, stood her on her head and poured paint over her.

In New York Tuesday a young lady whose initials spell few—Miss Florence E. Wilson—made a new record for speed on a typewriter, writing 117 words a minute for one hour. She beat a man, whose record was 115½ words, and won a prize valued at $1,000.

Wm. Gagon, a farmer at Clay City, Ind., had his chin bitten off by a horse. There is some consolation in the fact that he is not liable to get into a fix where he can't spit over his chin.

Trees of many varieties contributed by all of the counties of Kentucky were planted on the grounds of the State Capitol Wednesday as a feature of the annual celebration of Arbor Day.

The courage of King Alfonso ought to excite the admiration of even his enemies. He went without an escort to the scene of his Premier's assassination.

Jack Johnson has been refused bail, although he offered $40,000 cash. He is likely to stay in jail until he is transferred to the federal penitentiary.

Forty-four Roumanian soldiers were drowned Wednesday while crossing Calarisi Lake on the way from one military station to another. Their boat capsized.

BETHEL COLLEGE

Again Received Into the Baptist Education Society.

The Baptist Educational Society of Kentucky convened at the Christian church, Madisonville, Wednesday, with Dr. A. Yager, president of Georgetown College president, instead of Prof. E. Y. Mullins, who was not present.

W. E. Mitchell, of Adairville, acted as recording secretary. Bethel College, Russellville, was again received in the society, and R. H. Tolle, of Georgetown, field secretary, with other prominent members, discussed educational matters, and over $90,000 was received by the society in the last year.

Officers for next year were elected as follows: E. Y. Mullins, president; A. Yager, first vice president; G. W. Norton, second vice president; A. Gatliff, third vice president; W. E. Mitchell, recording secretary; A. Y. Ford, treasurer.

VALUABLE FARM

Near Pembroke Changed Hands Last Thursday.

R. T. Chilton, of Pembroke, sold his farm to Robert L. Horn, of Lafayette last Thursday. This is one of the best farms in the Pembroke neighborhood and contains 400 acres. The price paid was $60 per acre, aggregating $24,000. The improvements are all first class and the home is about one mile from Pembroke. Possession will be given January 1st.

For the Reorganization of Democratic Committees.

Louisville, Ky., November 15.—Rufus H. Vapsant, Democratic State Chairman, has issued a statement calling attention to the fact that the reorganization of the party in Kentucky and the election of committees will take place January 18 under the party laws.

Messrs. Geo. W. McKnight, of Howell, and Norton Garth, of Trenton, will have a public sale of seventy head of Registered Duroc Jersey hogs at Dr. G. P. Isbell's hospital in this city next Wednesday, Nov. 20. The stock consists of 20 bred sows and fall gilts, 30 spring gilts and 20 spring boars, all immuned against cholera. An excellent opportunity to secure thoroughbred stock. Cols. Igleheart and Reppert will conduct the sale.

HEAVY TRAVEL

Over L. & N. Necessitates Running Second Section Of Dixie Flyer.

Travel from Chicago South is, as usual, very heavy at this season. About every other day it is necessary to put on a second section to accommodate the traveling public.

The time for putting on an extra train is near at hand and this will probably be done the first of December. Instead of the "Little Dixie" running from Evansville here and laying over until 4 o'clock and returning to Evansville, it is probable that the run will be made from Evansville to Guthrie.

WAR NEWS.

Rumors that Adrianople has fallen are heard in Constantinople. Wireless communication with the beleaguered fortress has failed. Censorship is strict. The Greeks report the capture of Motsovo. The Turks have made peace overtures to Bulgaria.

WON PRIZE WITH PEN

Christian County Boy A Victor At the State Fair.

BEAT 108 CONTESTANTS.

A Free Trip To the Fair and An "Old Hickory" Wagon.

Foster Mason, only 18 years of age, had a real "joy ride" last Wednesday afternoon. He was on the seat of a one-horse "Old Hickory" wagon with the reins in hand ready to drive to his father's home, near Casky.

The wagon belonged to Foster and he had just taken it from the freight depot, freight charges having been paid by the Kentucky Wagon Co., of Louisville. Boys who have an aim in life should know how young Mason came into possession of his prize and it ought to spur them on in their efforts to accomplish something in life.

The managers of the State Fair this year offered a free trip to the fair to the boy who wrote the best paper on farm life. This offer carried with it car fare both ways, hotel bills and all incidental expenses. There were 108 contestants, Foster being the winner.

In addition to the above the Kentucky Wagon Company offered to give a one-horse "Old Hickory" wagon to the boy that wrote the best description of his visit to the fair. Mason was again the successful contestant.

Boys to write intelligently of farm life must have experience. A novice can't do it any better than a carpenter can handle a flying machine. Farm life is what young Mason has learned, and for his age he is unusually bright. Christian county is always to the front, and Foster is to be congratulated.

FOOTBALL TOMORROW.

Henderson and Hopkinsville High School Teams Will Contest at Mercer Park.

Probably the last game of football on the local gridiron will be played at Mercer Park tomorrow afternoon when the Henderson High School eleven and the Hopkinsville High School team meet. The local team has a splendid record, having won five of the six games played this season. Henderson has a good team also, and has been victor in several contests during the present season, and tomorrow's contest is expected to be a most interesting one. Doubtless a very large crowd will witness the game.

The game will be called promptly at 3 o'clock, instead of 3:15, as previously announced.

Miracle or Coincidence?

New York, Nov. 15.—By a singular chance, a barber's helper had dragged a couch from the shop to the sidewalk just before Thomas Nevil, a guard, fell from a Ninth avenue elevated train as it turned a curve and Nevil's life was saved. The helper had just finished brushing the couch when Nevil landed on it. His drop broke a leg of the couch, but he himself was only slightly injured.

NEGRO SHOT IN THE BACK

One Colored Farm Hand Shoots Another At Gracey.

Charles Minor shot and perhaps fatally wounded Charles Gilman, at Gracey Thursday. The shooting took place in Jno. C. Thurmond's cornfield, where Gilman was gathering corn. When Minor appeared with a 45 calibre pistol Gilman ran and was shot in the back. The bullet entered under the right shoulder blade and came out in front, passing through the lung. He has a chance to recover unless pneumonia develops. Minor was captured by Marshal Cox and brought to jail here by deputy Sheriffs.

PEMBROKE NEGRO

Sent to Paducah to Await Action of Federal Court.

Abe Davie, col., charged with representing himself as a federal employee and unlawfully securing money from negroes in and around Pembroke, was brought before Commissioner Clark Wednesday. The prisoner was held over to federal court, and, in default of a $500 bond, was sent to jail at Paducah. It is charged that Davie represented himself as being a pension agent.

STONE WALL

Being Built Around Jeff Davis Park.

A stone wall is to be built around the Jefferson Davis Park at Fairview. The park contains 17 acres and the contractors began work this week. The wall is to be about five feet high and of rough stone. We understand that Dr. E. S. Stuart allows the stone to be quarried on his premises free of charge.

Wilson's Popular Vote is Put at 6,510,829.

In 1896 Bryan received a total vote of 6,502,925. In 1900 his vote was 6,358,132, while in 1908 it totaled 6,409,104. These figures show that Wilson's vote was only 8,000 more than Bryan's was 16 years ago.

HAVE A CERTAIN USE

DAMPED NEW YORK DOGS FURNISH LIVING FOR MANY.

Sorts of Attendance Called for by Their Fond Owners—Boarding Houses at Which High Prices Are Charged.

Those of us who have been reared in a different sort of society are apt to have considerable contempt for the abbed, flattered and confined dog of New York, writes the Cincinnati Times-Star correspondent. We're used to the other sort of a dog—the dog that gets his muddy feet all over your new pants in his rainy day happiness, and almost growls his head off when the minister comes visiting, and goes under the barn when a tramp knocks at the back door. Our sort of dog is mostly mutt, and completely loses his self-respect when his affections are engaged. He really lives to grovel, gets up, about his master's feet, and snuggles a wet nose into a friendly hand. Whereas the New York dog, as soon as any of the residence streets before 9 o'clock in the morning and after 5 in the evening, leading an unhappy human by a leash, is a snobbish, arrogant, horribly bored beast. He might become a regular dog if he had the chance, but fate condemns him to be snuffed over by dumpy bowlers and led about the streets by indignant but cowardly husbands. At first thought one holds him entirely useless, but a more careful survey discovers him to be the support of many a man and woman who might otherwise have to work. There are half a dozen boarding houses for dogs, for example, in which the cost of board ranges from $2 to $7 a week, depending on the size of the dog and the quality of the accommodations. There are at least two dog cemeteries which have proved profitable investments for their stockholders. There are three or four dog hospitals which are always filled, and in which the cost of treatment runs pretty close to that of the second rate hospital for humanity. One dog doctor keeps a stable of trained nurses on hand, who will respond to calls at any hour of the day or night, and charge as much for nursing a dog as other nurses do for nursing a baby. There are half a score of dog manicurists and at least one dog miniature painter and two "coat specialists" and innumerable trainers, who teach tricks to the pets of the rich—and incidentally beat some slight respect for their masters into them. There are two "homes," in which cast-off dogs are cared for, and one establishment in which the last days of the aged and dying dog may be made comparatively happy—at a price. Many a dollar is picked up by the photographers for portraying dog poses, and scores of men and women, boys and girls, find it easier to make a living by giving dogs their regular daily exercise than by working in shops. Altogether, the New York dog isn't completely useless. If he is a non-producer himself, he makes his indulgent mistress produce pretty regularly—and aids in speeding up the New York dollar.

Nicaraguan History.

An English statesman once said that the chief benefit of a foreign war was the stimulus that it gave to the study of geography and history. And so the little trouble in Nicaragua encourages us to acquire the information that the country was discovered by Gil Gonzalez and Andres Nino in 1522 and that the invaders were surprised to find the practice of religious confession established among natives who had never heard of Christianity and who, moreover, were cannibals. The father confessors were old men who were compulsorily celibate, and they gave absolution with the words "Go! and do not sin likewise again." And then the penitent went away "happy and light-hearted," as one would do who had an over-burdened conscience, though a cannibal. If the difficulty with Nicaragua should continue we shall probably be moved to acquire further lore upon the subject, possibly even to the point of looking up the place on the map. But if not, not.

The Armada.

The armada—better known as the "Spanish armada"—consisted of 130 ships, besides a great number of caravels, 3,165 cannon, 8,550 sailors, 2,088 galley slaves, 20,000 soldiers, 150 monks, under the head of the vicar of the inquisition, and a considerable number of grantees, who went along to see the English killed and burnt. The destruction of this mighty armament by the English admirals and the winds of heaven was well-nigh complete. Very little of it ever got back to Spain. A bronze statue of "Britannia," as a national memorial of the defeat of the armada, was unveiled at Plymouth in the year 1890.

Quarantine.

It is impossible to say with anything like certainty just how old the custom of quarantine is. We know that it was observed at Venice as early as the year 1127, whereby all merchants and others coming from the Levant were obliged to remain for some forty days in a lazaretto before they were admitted into the city. The custom is now coextensive with the civilized world, and to it is doubtless to be attributed the rapid advance that has been made within the past quarter of a century in safeguarding the people from the plagues which in the olden times were so destructive of human life.

BANANA TREE IN EDEN

EASTERN LEGEND SUBSTITUTES IT FOR THE APPLE.

That It Was in a Bunch of This Fruit the Serpent That Tempted Eve Hid Itself, is a Very Widespread Belief.

There exists a legend relative to the Christian inhabitants of the east, that they believed the banana to be the tree of the source of good and evil, in a bunch of whose fruit the serpent that tempted Eve hid itself, and they add that when Adam and Eve became ashamed of their nakedness they covered themselves with the leaves of this plant. Beyond all doubt this legend had some influence upon the minds of those early botanical classifiers who designated two species of the plant by the names of Musa paradisiaca and Musa sapientium—Fruit of Paradise, Fruit of Knowledge, says a writer in the National Geographic Magazine.

The origin of the banana is given as India, at the foot of the Himalayas, where it has been cultivated since remote antiquity. Its origin in the new world is as doubtful as the origin of the American Indian. Natural to Asia and Africa, where more than 20 distinct species of the genus are known, it is said to have been brought first to America from Spain, early in the sixteenth century, and planted in the island of San Domingo, whence its spread was rapid throughout the surrounding islands and the mainland. This has never been authentically established, however, and some authorities include the banana among the articles that formed the base of the food supply of the Incas and the Aztecs before the arrival of the Spaniards. Certain it is that throughout the whole of meridional America there is a strong tradition that at least two species of the plantain were cultivated long before the coming of the Europeans. Furthermore, it is singular that in all the languages indigenous to the region where the banana appears that plant has a special name, not proceeding from the conquerors, as was the case with the names of many other plants, animals, and various articles introduced into America after its discovery.

Grown over the entire extent of the meridian of the earth, the fruit of the banana today forms, in large part, the principal food of a majority of the people living under the tropical zone. Several species and numerous varieties of the plant appear throughout tropical America, but it is cultivated for commercial purposes in appreciable quantities only along the Atlantic border, from southern Mexico to Colombia, in Jamaica, Cuba, San Domingo, and the Bahamas, the far western markets of the United States being plentifully supplied from the Hawaiian islands and Mexico's South Pacific coast.

Japanese Opposed Census Taking.

Serious results followed the taking of the first census in Japan, years ago. Observing with approval the work of western countries, the authorities thought it advisable to take statistics of population, and for that purpose sent out to all householders notices enjoining them to furnish them with full particulars of their families, age, sex, etc. This step was misconstrued in one of the villages, where suspicion was expressed that Japan was about to be sold or at least some of the people were to be sold to foreigners who were desirous of ascertaining the number of males, etc., before closing the bargain, in order to find out what price to pay according to the quantity of blood that would be forthcoming. It was a Japanese belief the foreigners squeezed the blood from all who came into their power. Excited and enraged mobs soon collected and attacked the village offices, and it was some time before order could be restored.

Find Ancient Documents.

A number of large rolls of historical Egyptian papyri have been discovered by one of the members of the Royal Geographical Society party. The manuscripts were unearthed by a fellow while sinking the foundations of his mud hut, near a temple of the Ptolemies, in Upper Egypt and are of the best Graeco-Egyptian period. They are well preserved so far as the writing is concerned, but discolored, and owing to their dry and fragile condition have to be handled with the utmost delicacy. It is anticipated that the contents will prove to be of real archaeological value in adding to our present knowledge of Egypt, and possibly Syria, as recorded in the days of the Ptolemies. A study already made reveals the fact that they relate to interesting historical events.

"Pinchbeck."

Christopher Pinchbeck found that three parts of zinc to one of copper would polish up to look like gold, just exactly like gold, and it could be worked off like gold to boot—could be stamped, cut, chased, embossed and worked suckerwise or smartly. Part of Pinchbeck's work he kept a close trade secret and it died with him, for most of his real handiwork still looks good as gold and brings a higher price than gold today. Christopher's boss trick was in putting a thin coat of gold on the imitation metal. Old parcel gliding on silver was expensive and electroplating and "rolled gold" had not been invented, so Pinchbeck jewelry admirably answered in its day, as Mrs. Astor's jewelry did in good old Mrs. Astor's day.—New York Press.

Terrible Picture of Suffering.

Clinton, Ky.—Mrs. M. C. McElroy, in a letter from Clinton, writes: "For six years, I was a sufferer from female troubles. I could not eat, and could not stand on my feet, without suffering great pain. Three of the best doctors in the state said I was in a critical condition, and going down hill. I lost hope. After using Cardui a week, I began to improve. Now I feel better than for six years." Fifty years of success, in actual practice, is positive proof that Cardui can always be relied on, for relieving female weakness and disease. Why not test it for yourself? Sold by all druggists.

Fully Explained.

Every now and again some individual arises to tell us Why We Are, and What We Are, and How We Know Why We Are, and How We Are What We Know, and What We Would Be if We Weren't, and What, Precisely, Areness Is, also Wereness, and Why We Aren't What We Mightn't Have Been if We Weren't, and other simple and entrancing facts. Such an individual is called a philosopher.—Bulletin, Sidney.

JEWELS FOR FAIR AMERICAN

Actress to Have Famous Necklace That Once Adorned Morganatic Wife of King Leopold.

The late Leopold II., the wicked old king of Belgium, could refuse the Baroness Vaughan nothing, says Le Cri de Paris. One day he presented her a magnificent emerald of 25 karats. His morganatic wife looked at the gift a long time, and she said with a sigh, "Only one? That is a symbol of inconstancy." The enamored sovereign understood the desire of the favorite and at once began search for a stone to mate the big emerald. At last he found it. With these and a large diamond, pear shaped, weighing more than 25 karats, and a dozen other brilliants of 15 karats and a hundred smaller ones a jeweler made an ornament that surpassed in beauty all the treasures of the Belgian court. With this the baroness ornamented her corsage. Soon afterward Leopold died and was speedily forgotten.

As is well known, the second marriage of Madame Vaughan was soon followed by a divorce. The jewels and souvenirs have been sold and this choice ornament has been acquired by a New York house. This house, it is said, was about to sell it to Colonel Astor for some millions of dollars when he went down in the Titanic. It is now said that this splendid ornament has been bought by or for an American actress and that mention of her purchase will soon appear in her press notices.

No Suffragette Views.

A visitor at a seaside boarding house went into the local postoffice and, seeking to draw the postmaster into conversation, asked him what his views were as to suffragettes. "Hain't got no 'tews of that kind," replied the postmaster, "but we've got some fine postcard views of the new viaduct, the Baptist church, and the new library. Want to look at 'em?"—London Tit-Bits.

African Dwarf Elephants.

An English official in Uganda claims to have seen a herd of dwarf elephants, the existence of which has often been affirmed by natives. When recently seen the company consisted of from 30 to 40 individual elephants meandering in solitary fashion over a plain. The observer was most astonished at the weak defenses offered by their bodies. None of them had a tusk of more than ten kilograms in weight. A dead member of the flock was afterward found, the tusk of which weighed but eight kilograms.

Little Doubt About It.

Married a month, a young man told the magistrate that his wife had done the following things: Torn up the marriage-certificate, pawned the ring, torn up her wedding-dress, assaulted him. She followed him to court, he added, but he managed to dodge her. The Clerk: "You took her for better or worse, and you seem to have got the worse."

THE INSULT

First Dog—Did they tie a tin can to your tail?

Second Dog—Yes; of a cheap brand, and me such a stickler for pure food.

VICTIM OF CATALEPSY.

The crowd at a French station the other night were struck with the curious attitude of a man who had been standing for a considerable time motionless before the board on which the delays of the train service are recorded. It was observed that his eyes were tightly closed. As he still remained without movement an official touched him on the shoulder. The man immediately fell into his arms, his body absolutely rigid. A doctor who was called diagnosed the case as one of catalepsy. It seems that for a considerable time the man had been standing in the middle of the busy station in an unconscious condition. Catalepsy is a sudden loss of consciousness, accompanied by more or less rigidity of the limbs, so that they remain in any position in which they are placed.

Made His Blessing Retroactive.

The father of a family who had been striving to bring up his children in the way they should go was very much annoyed at his son's uncouth habit of helping himself to a few bites before grace had been said. The stereotyped form called for: "A blessing on what we are about to eat," but one occasion being particularly exasperating, he astounded the young man by adding to his petition, "and on that which has already been eaten."

Sick Women

When shown positive and reliable proof that a certain remedy had cured many cases of female ills, wouldn't any sensible woman conclude that the same remedy would also benefit her if suffering with the same trouble?

Here are five letters from southern women which prove the efficiency of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

LETTER FROM VIRGINIA.

Elliston, Va.—"I feel it my duty to express my thanks to you and your great medicine. I was a sufferer from female troubles and had been confined in bed over one third of my time for ten months. I could not do my housework and had fainting spells so that my husband could not leave me alone for five minutes at a time.

"Now I owe my health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier. Whenever I see a suffering woman I want to tell her what these medicines have done for me and I will always speak a good word for them."—Mrs. ROBERT BLANKENSHIP, Elliston, Montgomery Co., Va.

LETTER FROM LOUISIANA.

New Orleans, La.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was troubled with hot flashes, weak and dizzy feelings, backache and irregularities. I would get up in the morning feeling tired out and not fit to do anything. Since I have been taking your Compound and Blood Purifier I feel all right. Your medicines are worth their weight in gold."—Mrs. GASTON BLONDEAU, 1541 Polymnia St., New Orleans, La.

LETTER FROM FLORIDA.

Waucho, Fla.—"Some time ago I wrote to you giving you my symptoms, headache, backache, bearing-down, and discomfort in walking, caused by female troubles.

"I got two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and a package of Sanative Wash and that was all I used to make me a well woman. I am satisfied that if I had done like a good many women, and had not taken your remedies, I would have been a great sufferer. But I started in time with the right medicine and got well. It did not cost very much either. I feel that you are a friend to all women and I would rather use your remedies than have a doctor."—Mrs. MATTIE HODNOT, Box 406, Waucho, Florida.

LETTER FROM WEST VIRGINIA.

Martinsburg, W. Va.—"I am glad to say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done wonders for my mother, daughter and myself.

"I have told dozens of people about it and my daughter says that when she hears a girl complaining with cramps, she tells her to take your Compound."—Mrs. MARY A. HOCKENBERRY, 712 N. 3rd St., Martinsburg, W. Va.

ANOTHER LETTER FROM VIRGINIA.

Newport News, Va.—"About five years ago I was troubled with such pains and bloating every month that I would have to go to bed.

"A friend told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I soon found relief. The medicine strengthened me in every way and my doctor approved of my taking it.

"I will be glad if my testimony will help some one who is suffering from female weakness."—Mrs. W. J. BLAYTON, 1029 Hampton Ave., Newport News, Va.

SIAM LETTERS

Hopkinsville Missionary Writes
From the Other Side of the World.

"The Hill," Dec. 13, 1911.
It has been just a week since I came up, and the days have fairly flown. I don't know when I have enjoyed myself more. I am beginning to feel rested, and like a new woman. The girls are very happy, and I think they will be perfectly content to stay the two weeks out. Every morning I study Siamese two or three hours, and in the afternoon, read, nap and walk. It is quite cold and the air acts like a tonic. The last hot season rather wore on me. There seemed no "let up" to it. The Mt. is a great boon to us, though there are a few who never come up. One woman says, "Why, there's nothing to do up there!" and I haven't had a dull moment since I came. It is worth a trip just to enjoy one of these gorgeous sunsets. I curl up in my steamer chair every evening at about five, and do nothing else for the next hour, save watch the changing colors in the skies, until the last ray of sun-light has disappeared and the stars come out. I have had some good books along, too, and you know what a luxury reading is to me, one that I cannot often indulge, now.

When a man came up Monday, he brought disquieting news of cholera. One report said it was in Lakawn, and there had been ten deaths in one day, the other report said the epidemic was in a village a few miles out from Lakawn, and that there were over 70 cases, and that the village had been quarantined. We hope reports are exaggerated. If it is true, our mail may be held up for some time, as it all goes through there. It may break up Annual meeting, too, at Lakawn next month. I had decided not to go anyhow.

Everybody is always worn out after annuals, and I know I would not be fit to begin a long term of school. Annuals are late this year, on account of the Bradt party, so we will have to begin school just as soon as our people can return.

Sat. eve. Dr. Kerr came up with Mr. Garrett, of the Forest Dept., and Mrs. Kerr sent me up all sorts of good things to eat. Everything except some delicious bread, was in tins, so I can eat it at my leisure. Dr. Kerr is quite a botanist, and collects specimens for the English botanical gardens at Kew; and he and Mr. Garrett came up to spend Sunday in that way.

The girls with me are great gigglers; sometimes I get rather tired of it, but the memory of my own youth bids me be indulgent. Every night to amuse them and get practice in the language, I tell them a story or two. The other night I told them the story of Goldie Locks and the three bears, and I thought they never would get through laughing over the tears of the little bear, when he found his soup all eaten up

No further news of cholera, so it must have been a false alarm.

Just received word that a box is in Bangkok for me, from the Board. Hope it is my home box. Don't know whether any boats are going down soon or not.

Nan, Siam, April 13, 1912.

I had a bad night last night, so I am planning for a good nap as soon as I get this letter written. Early in the night a bat flew in, and woke me up by its chirping; a little before one o'clock, our black cat began mewling. Two or three times I awakened and went off to sleep, but finally I was thoroughly aroused. I got up and closed all the doors, to try to shut the sound out, but to no avail. I got up again and made a search for her, but she had by that time gone into Miss V's bath room (the space between the two bath-rooms, instead of being walled up, has two cup boards, back to back, under which a cat can crawl.) I got up the third time and caught her, and started down stairs with her, intending to shut her up in the pantry for the rest of the night; but when I got to the top of the stairs, I began to feel her claws, so I threw her down the stairs as hard as I could (I knew it wouldn't hurt her, but it was some small relief to my feelings.) In the struggle the candle had gone out, so I had to relight it; then went down stairs and had a wild chase for several minutes, which resulted in the cat slipping past me and going upstairs again. She then took refuge in Miss Van V's room, when that lady called me and asked where her kitten was, that was what was the matter with her. I didn't know anything about the blasted kitten, though I think Miss V suspected me, so I crawled back to bed again, after having lost three hours of sleep. At day-light, I was again awakened by the mewling, and a flea walking up and down my spinal column. Fleas have been the pest of my life ever since Miss V took the cat to stay in her, and my bath-rooms. This morning the girl found the kitten in the pantry; where I intended taking the cat last night if she had let me. She had found a nice bed for it there and had moved without our knowing it.

The French consul has small-pox, picked up somewhere on the road between here and Chi Mai, I don't doubt. Last week small-pox was all around us, two deaths in one day, a stone's throw away. But I don't think there is any very near us now. You may get this letter as soon as the one I wrote last week, and sent down river. But things were so bad last week, I didn't know when I might get another letter to you, so thought I had better write and explain the situation. But there have been no more cases at the post-office so we are sending mail through that channel this week. All our own mail was fumigated at the dispensary, before we were allowed to touch it.

We have had some very hard rain and thunder-storms this week, relieving us from the hot spell. Now, the air is delightfully cool and fresh.

Expectant.

A man slightly under the influence of liquor strolled into the art gallery, wandered about aimlessly for a while and stationed himself in front of a painting of several mermaids half submerged in water. He regarded this picture intently for perhaps a half hour. Then he walked over to an attendant and said: "Shay, ole fellow, what time does tide go out, anyway?"

WOMAN IS TO BE THE DIRECTOR

DR. ANNA LOUISE STRONG, EXPERIENCED WORKER, TO HAVE CHARGE OF EXHIBIT.

TO PORTRAY CONDITIONS

Many Deaths Among Kentucky Children Could be Prevented—This will be an Important Subject Before the Conference.

The scope of the Kentucky Child Welfare Conference and Exhibit at Louisville, November 21-30 is limited only by the conditions surrounding child life. Dr. Anna Louise Strong, a young woman in her early twenties, is the Director of the Exhibit. Dr. Strong is a Ph. D. from the University of Chicago and has directed the Child Welfare Exhibits in New York, Chicago, Kansas City and Montreal and is the most notable figure in America in this work. Under her supervision nearly $100,000 was spent in preparing for the New York exhibit. The great bulk of this money was spent in securing views and screens of child life in the school, in its home, whether in tenements or palaces, in settlement and educational movements, recreation grounds and industrial conditions, as well as to show its moral and religious life and to show the operation of philanthropic movements and the management of philanthropic homes. To this invaluable collection of screens was added about $50,000 worth of screens prepared for the Chicago Child Welfare Exhibit and subsequently valuable additions were made on account of the Kansas City and Montreal exhibits. All the screens used in the previous exhibits, as well as hundreds of views of Louisville and Kentucky conditions, will be shown at the Kentucky Exhibit and Conference this month.

The officers of the exhibit, who have given generously of their time, money and energy to further the enterprise for the sake of the Kentucky boy and girl, have endeavored to enlist the active co-operation of philanthropic workers throughout Kentucky, but owing to the newness of the venture have met without a great deal of success. However, they have secured reduced railroad rates into Louisville for the occasion and Mrs. Morris B. Belknap, president of the association and chief worker in preparing for the Louisville Exhibit, expresses the hope that every county and community in Kentucky will be largely represented. Miss Adele Brandies, a notable settlement worker of Louisville, is the assistant director of the Louisville exhibit.

Health.

Then Kentucky officers have compiled statistics showing that a large number of deaths among children can be prevented by proper feeding and care, as well as showing the startling fact that one child died for every four that are born.

In the health exhibit will be shown a milk station, babies' hospital room, dental clinic, pure food show, anti tuberculosis exhibit and a model dairy. This exhibit will be under the supervision of the Kentucky State Board of Health, which is co-operating with the officers of the Kentucky Child Welfare Association to its fullest extent in an endeavor to exhibit the cause and prevention of feeble-mindedness and blindness. Numerous photographs and charts have been collected along this line.

Moral Life.

The larger part now taken by the church in the child's weekday amusements makes religion more real to him than it was to his grandfathers and grandmothers in their boyhood and girlhood days. Under this heading the institutional church will show what they are doing for the reclamation of the children, as well as for the reclamation of the young men and young women. There will be a model Sunday School room with classes going on at stated hours. The M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A., the Y. M. C. A. and the Girls' Friendly Society will have photographs and charts showing how they are combining religious, physical and mental training.

Schools.

Boys and girls learn more quickly when education is varied to meet their individual needs and capacities. One of the largest exhibits will be that of the Louisville public schools, composed of photographs, charts and class rooms, where the parents may see the children actively engaged in kindergarten and primary and other grade work, as well as domestic science, drawing, music, manual training, and other modern school room activities.

Photographs of schools in other cities, with charts giving facts as to cost, equipment and organization, will indicate some of the lines along which the Louisville schools hope to develop. A room will be devoted to an exhibit of the Wider Use of the School Plant, including Social Centers, School Gardens and Vacation Schools and Parent-Teachers' Associations.

The Kentucky School for the Blind will make an exhibit of its interesting and important work.

Recreation.

Play time can teach children how to pull together and to "tote fair."

A model Playground, fully equipped, will open to the children under the direction of regular supervisors. Photographs and charts showing what Louisville is furnishing the children in the way of recreation, can be seen here, also some of the future plans of the Board of Park Commissioners. Striking features of moving picture shows, dance halls, and other commercial amusements will form part of this section.

Country Life and Schools.

Kentucky farms, forests and streams are waiting for the boy and girl who is learning to use them.

The child in the country needs as fine a school as the child in the city. Conditions that affect child life in the country as distinguished from the city will here be made clear. The valuable lessons country boys and girls are learning from the Corn and Tomato Clubs will be shown and rural schools and housing conditions explained by photographs and models.

This Exhibit will be the first of its kind ever made in a Child Welfare Exhibit.

The Child and the Law.

The law is to protect, not to oppress, the child.

This section will show the work and the needs of institutions established by law for the care of neglected, dependent and delinquent children. It will also present the laws now existing for the protection of children, with suggestions for further legislation.

Industrial Conditions.

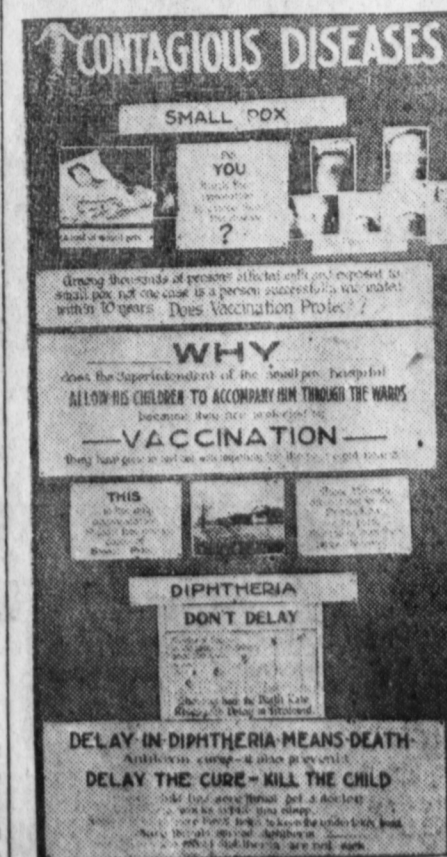

The wages in a family and the kind of work done decide largely the child's manner of life.

Figures and charts will give the wages of men and women, the accidents to industrial workers, the cost of living, and the result of these wages and accidents upon the child's life. Pictures and stories will show the harm done a child by selling papers, delivering messages and working in doors.

Homes.

The ideal place for the child should be its own home.

This section will be one of the most attractive of the whole exhibit. Here will be shown a three-room apartment furnished for a hundred dollars, a model playground with toys that are playable and durable and games and home occupations for children, practical outfits of children's clothes made of materials that will wear well. A display of wholesome food will be on view. Features of good and bad housing conditions in Louisville will form a striking feature of this section.

Philanthropy.

A dependent child is one who by poverty, the illness or death of parents, or bad home surroundings is deprived of a fair chance in life. Philanthropy consists largely in caring for this child.

Striking drawings, photographs and statements will show how this child is supported in its own home, placed in another home or cared for in an institution. This section will also touch on the work with deaf and dumb and crippled children and those unfortunate in other ways.

AMUSEMENTS.
Two Merry Tramps.

Of "Two Merry Tramps," many pleasing things have been said by the critics, not only in the larger cities but in the night stands as well, during the past season where "Two Merry Tramps" have been presented, about Wood & Ward's production, the play being strictly a musical comedy with three acts and a bevy of pretty girls.

The title of the piece is somewhat misleading, but it is only the title, for from the rise to the fall of the curtain it is just one of the cleanest, jolliest and liveliest comedies that has enlivened the musical field. The comedy is natural, the music catchy, the scenery magnificent, the costumes gorgeous and the cast all that is desired.

This attraction will be the offering at Holland's Opera House, Wednesday, Nov. 20.
